OVERVIEW

I am a motivated self-learner, who has a genuine curiosity and delight for puzzles and problems. After studying economics, politics and philosophy for four years at the University of Cape Town, I have worked as a freelancer, offering tutoring lessons for university and high school students in English, History, Mathematics and Economics. During this time, I have also taught myself how to program and build software. This has allowed me to expand my offering to include website development and cryptocurrency consulting. My main interests are data analysis and cryptocurrencies. I am interested in working in these fields, and would be willing to learn anything necessary to bootstrap my knowledge.
